Fire Destroys Home in Duquette Pines & Displaces Family for Christmas

Written by Eileen Capson

IDAHO CITY -- Tragedy struck on Monday by the early afternoon, when a home in Duquette Pines subdivision caught fire. It was once a beautiful three-story home with log siding, overlooking a quiet valley, in a forested area with mature pine trees. Little could be done by the volunteer fire department when they arrived. Neighbors, and those in Idaho City, could see the huge black plume created as flames ate away at the home's interior and tore up the walls.

The first Boise County Deputy on the scene observed that the fire went into the wood storage on the back porch, and once it hit that, the home seemed to be lost. He indicated that no one was hurt in the fire and that a cause had not yet been identified.

The Hofer family, a family of five, was left without the option to retrieve any of their precious items from their home. David Hofer, who was home at the time, was thankful to have gotten the dogs out of the house in time. In an instant, everything was gone. The family stared helplessly, with tears in their eyes, as their house burned to the ground.

However, within hours, the community had rallied together, forming lists, and compiling items that the family would need in the short-term. Food storage items and some everyday necessities were provided and brought up from the school's Wellness Center. A furnished home was offered to the Hofer family, where they could stay until December 21st. Soon after, another home in Idaho City was made available for them. "So at least, they would have a roof over their heads for Christmas," says new owner of Trudy's Kitchen, Melissa Head.

The family was provided some money earned by the Idaho City Community Club, from their "Burnout Fund". A gofundme page has been set up by the school's PTA President, Tonya Caward called "Raising money for The Hofer's". An account had also been set up at the Idaho City High School office for monetary donations. Clothes have been gathered for their daughter in first grade, son in 6th grade and oldest daughter in 7th grade. Items were even collected for the parents, Stacey, a school teacher, and David Hofer. Meals for the family are being organized through the PTA President.

Coming out into the snow and towards the smoke, family and friends gathered to take a last look at what had been taken in the fire.

The three-story home continued to burn, even with approximately 100,000 gallons of water sprayed on it.

A devastating fire claimed one home. Idaho City Fire Department responded, but the home was fully engulfed by fire upon their arrival.

The home had been insured through a good company, but the process will likely take some time.

The home has been declared a total loss by Boise County. However, within the arms of a caring community, it is the hope that prayers and offers of help will offset some of this transitional pain the Hofer family has cause to endure.

Garden Valley Senior & Social Center News

By Janet Juroch

The Garden Valley Senior Center had their first Membership Matters Christmas Party, with members playing games that required thought and focus a few times in the night. Winning the plethora of prize choices made it a fun night for everyone. Photo by Janet Juroch

There is nothing like getting people together for social activities when the long days of darkness settle in and cold weather makes everyone stay put. The Garden Valley Senior Center is making great strides in encouraging people to join in on activities. Newcomers have a chance to meet new friends and learn about what is happening throughout the community.

The Metro Meals on Wheels program is feeding seniors and others that come for a nutritious meal on each Tuesday and Thursday. The raves keep coming in that the meals are quite tasty, too. Meals begin at noon, but the doors are open at 11:30am. Seniors aged 60+ can get a full meal with healthy serving sizes for a $4.00 donation. Others pay a mere $6.00 donation to get the full meal deal. The meals are serving close to 30 people already. This program hopes to keep expanding and serving homebound residents in the future by having home delivery. Notice will be given when this starts up.

The Metro Meals on Wheels menu for Thursday, December 13 is Roast Beef, mashed potatoes and gravy, corn, green salad, rolls and milk. On Tuesday the 18th is Malibu Chicken, with buttered pasta, broccoli, bread, juice and milk. On Thursday the 20th, the "Christmas Meal" plans for ham and pineapple, sweet potatoes, green bean casserole, pie, rolls and milk. There will not be a meal served on Christmas Day holiday. The meals will resume after that, except on the January 1st holiday.

Become a member and be the first to get your meal calendar in an email. Membership is only $5.00 per person. Fun activities will be in the newsletter to let people know about the other social events going on at the center. Volunteers are always appreciated in a variety of areas. Sometimes there is just a one-time event you might be interested in. Others like to help jump in for regular activities. The aim is to just have fun, whatever the level of involvement.

Start planning ahead for the Annual Talent Show, hosted by the Garden Valley Senior Center. Plans are for late February. Show your talents off to the community in this always fun production. Magicians, musical talents, cowboy poetry, and comedy are out there to share. Get some friends together and prepare skits of drama and fun. Let your imagination find ways to entertain and fill the Community Hall with laughter and amazement. Contact the Senior Center for more information.

people stumped but worked at getting as many points as possible in order to be able to pick out prize gifts at the gift table. Newcomers came and signed up at the party to become members. They walked away with the best cash prize of $50 in a stocking. Some of the games had people up and moving to numbers on the floor with the hope of standing on the number that was called. Music, prizes, great food and laughter filled the room.

A big thank you goes to the members who believed in a thriving Senior Center and helped keep the doors open this year. Friendships have begun for the newest residents looking for social activities. Others look to the Center for wellness activities. The growth of activities helps to connect a rural community.

Members were treated to a wonderful Membership Matters Christmas Party. There was a lot of food and snacks to enjoy throughout the evening. Trivia games had many

Trudy's Kitchen has New Owners

Written by Eileen Capson
IDAHO CITY -- Paul and Melissa Head say owning Trudy's is a lifelong dream. As of December 1st, that dream became a reality when Trudy Jackson sold to the local couple. Having grown up in the restaurant business, Melissa feels right at home and Paul was amazed at how smoothly the transition went. He said, "It's a good place to eat and I could really see running it." It's a business that caters to families, and having six children of their own, they intend to enlist their help in the family business.

The couple is committed to keeping the menu and quality the same, out of respect for Trudy Jackson. However, they want to bring some variety to the locals. Each day of the week they will offer a special: Monday – Chinese, Tuesday – Mexican, Wednesday – BBQ, Thursday – Italian, and Friday – Fresh Fish. Even within those categories, dishes will be subject to weekly changes.

Providing delicious home-cooked meals at a reasonable price is their aim. "We want to keep people coming back," Paul says.

Melissa highly respects the legacy Trudy built, and as the new owners, they intend to keep the same menu and the staff on.

Paul would like to add to the Veteran Wall at the back of the restaurant. He has proudly displayed in the case the uniform of his grandfather who served in WWI, along with a letter dictating his service. He's a Navy veteran himself and would like to put a call out for other local veterans to bring in a photograph of their time in the service.

"I want people to feel like they're coming into our home, like they're family." All about cleanliness, Melissa said her grandmother taught her how to run a restaurant in a town that was even smaller than Idaho City! The couple brought many of the decorations from their own home to spruce up the place and to make the restaurant even more inviting. The Head family looks forward to offering the same friendly service and quality that people have come to enjoy at Trudy's Kitchen.

The new owners are building a "Veteran Wall" and have requested that all local service men and women bring in their photo.

THE CALDERWOOD FAMILY

WRITTEN BY JERRY BRANSON ~ HISTORIAN

This family covers a lot more than one generation and several were old friends of mine, whom I knew quite well. I doubt that I can finish it in one article and maybe not even two.

The history of this family goes back to Quebec, Canada, where the senior father, not named, was born. Ralph Calderwood was born in Camden, Maine in 1850. Ralph traveled to California with his father, then moved to Montana where his father died. Ralph then went to Silver City, Idaho. After living and working there, he moved to Idaho City in 1877. He worked at the Banner mine and did some prospecting on his own. He developed a placer claim on Lost Creek in August 1877. Lost Creek is south of the Banner mine and a tributary of the North fork of the Boise River. The stream is small and spring came late so he ran out of sufficient water by early July. He was not there long at any one time. He did have a cabin there and the placer work is quite evident, but mostly strung out along Lost Creek. In 1881, he moved to the Bonanza and Custer mines on the Yankee Fork River, but returned to the Banner mine again in June, 1885, where he became a deputy at the mining community. He went on a prospecting trip to the Deadwood River on May 29, 1888 but returned to Idaho City after a few short months. He either was unsuccessful or did not make sufficient money to then return to Idaho City.

He worked his placer claim on Lost Creek for several years, somewhat sporadically. His waster season was dependent on snow fall, so he often ran out of placer water and could not start mining until late June. He usually was out of water by sometime in July. Therefore he had nearly half a year to work at other locations and jobs. He was rarely mentioned in The Idaho World. But he made enough money to support himself and to get married. He married Anna Carpentier on January 3, 1896. Anna was the daughter of Nazierre Carpentier, who lived on the South Fork of the Payette River. Anna was the daughter of Margaret Flett and was born in Oregon.

With the marriage, the Calderwoods produced Helen, Delores, and Chester, usually known as Chet. They would eventually live in Centerville where they went to school in the early 1900's. In his oral history, he refers to a mine on Henry Creek, but it was the Star Mine across from old Centerville that he actually described. This was my first clue not to trust oral history info and why I use The Idaho World for dates. Old age memories are often not reliable sources of information, as seniors tend to forget details. Even tombstones are not accurate, although we have found and visited most of the cemeteries and recorded tombstone data. At least, my Sister Jo did that chore over the last 16 years of research.. That is why my articles come from actual data and not hearsay as the kids grew up. We do not have any data on how many years the family lived in Centerville.

We have gone to his Lost Creek mine. The amount of placer mining is amazingly prevalent for such a limited water supply, but he worked the claim from 1877 to 1895 over a long period of time. Lost Creek is quite small, so persistence had to be what drove him to work this small stream. It evidently supported him financially for a very long time, but he did work at many other places over the years as well. That is an indication that it did not support him enough to continue working the mine. No mention is made of him having any helpers or supporters for his effort. But the extent of the existing placer work is extensive enough to be a monument to persistent laboring.

The Calderwoods acquired the South Fork of the Payette property in September 25, 1900, just west of what became HES 405, settled by Joseph Hessler, Jan, 28, 1917. They built a two story house that remains on the property today at Calderwood Creek, as well as a barn and several outbuildings. HES405 is just east of the Calderwood property, and west of the Wharton Dam. Like most people who had property in Boise County, Ralph Calderwood visited Idaho City periodically for legal matters, including taxes. He reported the progress of the Wharton Dam work on the South Fork of the Payette, which was completed in 1907. We have no details on when it was sold, but that was quite recent, likely before his son Bill passed away.

He and Anna went to a picnic at the Golden Age mine at Grimes Pass on June 20, 1911. Ralph served as Garden Valley property assessor from 1898 to 1902. At the time of his death, he was the clerk of the Garden Valley School District 3. He died January 2, 1914 at home. He is buried in Garden Valley, as is most of his family. He was widely known for the knowledge he shared with others. He was certainly a fine example of the early settlers in Boise County his entire adult life.

Data on the two daughters is scarce, especially concerning Dolores. But Helen has a past history that we traced. We have lots of data on Chet. The next article will be on the kids, especially Chet, because we had a lot of contact with him in his later years.

HORSESHOE BEND Festival of Trees

Written by Tracy Koslosky
HORSESHOE BEND -- The community of Horseshoe Bend turned out in large numbers on Saturday, December 8 for the Festival of Trees, sponsored by Valley Christian Center, and with a special thank you to Idaho Power. This annual event features custom decorated trees (full size and table top/wreath categories) by Horseshoe Bend community members and businesses, a cookie contest (best decorated and best tasting), food (hot dogs & chili with all the fixings), a potluck dessert table, pictures with Santa and Mrs. Claus, silent auction, and door prizes. There were eleven entrants in the full size tree category, with 1st place going to Grace Lutheran Church for their All Creatures Great and Small entry. 2nd place went to Lindsey Satellite for their Oh Holy Night themed tree, and 3rd place went to Festival of Trees sponsors, Valley Christian Church, for their take on The Nutcracker. Other entrants were Norma Eddins, Bend Baptist Church, the LDS Church, Ray's Corner market, the Horseshoe Bend Volunteer Fire Department (who also had an entry in the tabletop/wreath category), Anthony Insurance, Mustang Towing (with a little help from their local business friends), and the Horseshoe Bend Food Pantry. In the tabletop/wreath competition, 1st place went to Brandi Rogers for her Butterflies and Hats creation. 2nd place went to Annyta McNees for her Nativity wreath and The White Horse Grocery & Mercantile. Attendees were able to bid on the trees with the proceeds (minus the cost of the trees) going to the Horseshoe Bend Food Bank. This year the donation will be $ 900.00. Best decorated cookie bragging rights went to Horseshoe Bend Middle School student Annelie Wilson, while best tasting cookie went to Tracy Koslosky. Horseshoe Bend businesses gave generously for the festival's silent auction & door prizes, with items coming

Listening to the Christmas wishes of nearly one-hundred children.

Special thanks to Joyce Obland, organizer with the BBIA

A crisp cool night with burn barrels and warm conversation among friends.

FIRE SAFETY FROM SMOKEY

IDAHO CITY -- Smokey greeted children with soft bear hugs at this year's tree lighting ceremony in Idaho City. Michelle, a U.S. Forest Service representative, helped pass out coloring materials and gifts to the kids, reminding them about the importance of fire safety.

Smokey Bear has been an emblem since 1944, "working hard to inspire Americans to prevent wildfires," according to the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.
