What are "Yew" Feeding the Wildlife? Three Confirmed Elk Deaths in Garden Valley

BOISE COUNTY -- Surprisingly small amounts of ingested Japanese yew plant can poison and kill wildlife. However, they are not the only ones at risk. Domesticated livestock, including horses, cows, chickens and goats need only to eat a miniscule percentage of their body weight to reach a toxic level. In horses, the level is 0.1%. Death is normally due to cardiac arrest and respiratory failure. According to Evin Oneale, Regional Communications Manager for the Idaho Fish & Game, “We have confirmed the deaths of three wintering elk in the Garden Valley area. At least one of those (and likely all three) died after ingesting Japanese Yew, an all too common shrub used as landscaping.”

Children have been treated for consuming the fruit of the yew shrubs. Fatal amounts in adults is estimated at 50 to 100 leaves. Puppies and adult dogs that chew on sticks could also be at risk of poisoning from the Japanese yew plant.

The ornamental yew plant might be found growing around homes. It is suggested that the shrubs be disposed of in a safe landfill, because the branches are still poisonous. The stumps will resprout, so they need to be dug up or killed with a strong herbicide.

Signs of yew toxicity include seizures, abdominal pain, vomiting, pupal dilation, cardiac arrhythmia, respiration distress, coma, and death. The onset is rather rapid, with effects manifesting within 1 to 3 hours. Circulatory collapse can occur within 30-minutes, if large amounts of the plant are ingested. Other fatal ingestions of Japanese yew documented by the Idaho Fish & Game in Idaho include: Rabbits, elk, moose, deer and pronghorn. Due to recent fires in Boise County, large game have been in search of green plants like the yew, protruding from the white snow.

Sheriff & Idaho City Police Take One Into Custody After Finding Drugs & Guns

Charles Allen
Courtesy of the Ada County Jail

BOISE COUNTY -- Late afternoon, on December 26th, there was a joint arrest made by the Boise County Sheriff's Office, Idaho City Police, and Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco & Firearms agency. A federal search warrant had been obtained to search two domiciles located a few miles south of Idaho City, along Highway 21. Within the premises there was found methamphetamines, marijuana, and multiple firearms.

Charles Allen was taken into custody and charged with Possession of Meth and Possession of a Firearm by a Felon. His bond has been set on December 27th at $5,000, by Magistrate Judge Roger Cockerille.

As of January 1, 2019, Allen no longer appeared as an inmate at the Ada County Jail. He is next due in court on January 7th at 11am.

On December 27th, Boise County Deputies responded to a call in Horseshoe Bend of threats being made with a deadly weapon. A male suspect was arrested on Aggravated Assault. No other details are known about this case and the investigation is ongoing.

Ellie's Store, which has been closed for over a year, was one location searched. Photo by Idaho World

Garden Valley ~ A Year in Review

A Recap By Janet Juroch

January -Crouch received a Purple Heart designation and a sign at the entrance of the town. The Cell Tower appeared to making progress. The Garden Valley Hospital Taxing District began a year-long, tumultuous journey when the local doctor was not going to renew his contract with the District. Transparency with the Board of Directors was under fire and public awareness fueled many questions. The local Medicap Pharmacy started up in the Garden Valley Market and has been able to make it easy for locals to get prescriptions and other wellness items. Planning and Zoning was underwent changes in personnel.

February - Local meetings were held to discuss the need for paramedics in the Garden Valley Fire Protection District programs. This was coming to a vote in the spring. The Garden Valley Recreation District was making plans for a busy year and park improvements. The Greater Garden Valley Chamber of Commerce began the planning of year-long events, including the 4th of July. The Hub eatery opened with pizza, sandwiches, and ice cream treats. The Lincoln Day Forum at the Crouch Community Hall brought candidates running for office together in one evening for questions and answers to enlighten the public of political stances. Rare Spirit Bear photos graced the walls of the Garden Valley Public Library. The Garden Valley Center for the Arts had their annual Chocolate auction and exhibit.

March - A local resident participated in a National Games show, winning a plethora of prizes. GV Center for the Arts had the students all over the county display their art in a month-long show. The Senior Center had their annual Talent Show at the Crouch Community Hall. There were continuing discussions regarding the direction of the GV Senior Center and Granny's Closet. The GV Boosters had made changes to the Board and fundraising plans. Nuts and Bolts of the paramedic program levy proposal was explained with public meetings. Outreach Programs showed how they offered a place for teens to gather.

April - Community questions the GV Hospital Taxing District about how tax money is being spent. Distinctive medical care options were no longer available with loss of subsidy programs. GV Center for the Arts had a "Bunny Exhibition" with local artists creating their idea of bunny rabbit art. The Senior Center explored expanding the building if Granny's continue bringing in big furniture and appliance items. Volunteers began sprucing up the flower beds around the Senior Center building. The Historical Museum house in the Crouch City hall had a makeover. The Garden Valley Stampede UTV/ATV roundup, and a controversial Konnexion music event were being planned for the coming events in the area.

May - A very successful Spring Fling with a Cinco de Mayo theme filled the streets of Crouch. A local gardener shares her ways to get a garden growing in the mountains. The City of Crouch spreads information to city residents about a revenue bond to help with an expanding water project. The Bond passed for the City to look into grants that would fund most of the water project. Honey bees made a long time home in the Crouch Community Hall and were finally moved to a new home. The honey and honeycomb were removed, too, keeping the bees from swarming the area. The GV School track team had their second annual Color Run and many people were splashed with color as they ran through the GV Trail system. The GV School Softball Team went on to the State Play-offs but fell short of winning it all.

The GV Senior Center upheaval created a new Board of Directors with new decisions to make for the future of the Center.

June - A brand new Fire Auxiliary formed to assist the Fire Protection District with many stepping up to be a part of an active group. Bricks showcasing memories of Veterans who have served were on display at the official Veterans Memorial site at Weilmunster Park. City of Crouch looked into grants to expand water project throughout the town. Preparations are made for the week long 4th of July celebrations.

July - The week of the 4th of July started off with the first annual Garden Valley Stampede UTV/ATV event in Weilmunster Park, complete with activities including a poker run ride in the forest. The week of the 4th also included duck races, family floating on the Middlefork, the Soap Box Derby car runs in town, music, Starlight Mountain Theatre productions, and the Chamber of Commerce sponsored fire-

Garden Valley Senior & Social Center News

By Janet Juroch

With the holidays behind us now, it is time to enter into the winter routine, which just might consist of simple and pure hibernating until the snow goes away. Others get into planning for the garden or a summer vacation. We all have our routines from time to time. The New Year also gets everyone thinking of how to utilize the next twelve months.

That also means the GV Senior Center is thinking and planning for the coming year. Stay tuned as the plans grow. Being a member gets you informed first and we all like being first, right? Being a member starts with age 50+ and only $5.00 per year per person. The Center always welcomes new faces and friends.

The January 2019 Menu is ready for our Metro Meals on Wheels (MMOW) lunches every Tuesday and Thursday at the Center at noon. On January 3rd, the lunch is an Idaho favorite of Finger Steaks, along with Loaded Mashed Potatoes, Green Beans, Green Salad, Bread and Milk.

Tuesday - 1/08: Breaded Chicken, Mashed Potatoes w/ Country Gravy, Peas & Onions, Bread, Spiced Pears, Milk. Thursday - 1/10: Beef Tacos, Refried Beans, Corn, Pudding, Tortillas, Milk.

Look for the January meal menu to be appealing. The meals have generous portions and are hearty. The recommended donation is $4.00 for 60+ and $6.00 for those under 60 and take-out meals. We hope to have some great participation in January. Special thanks to the dining room volunteers who are making it possible to provide additional service to attendees.

Don't forget that the Community Talent Show, sponsored by the Senior Center, is coming February 23 at the Crouch Community Hall. If you have (or think you have) talent, please contact any Board member and our organizers will get back to you for scheduling. Skits, magic, music, and fun are showcases of the talent that makes our area so great. The new residents need to see what a gifted community we have here. Be in the show or come and bring friends This is an event you will not want to miss. Enjoy an evening of laughter and touching moments as young and old alike entertain us.

Reflection from Board Secretary: As we move into the New Year, we want to thank all of you who are coming to the Center, volunteering, and offering support and encouragement. We threw quite a few balls into the air during our reorganization, and, fortunately, we were able to catch most of them because of our membership. Join us as we continue to reinvent ourselves to meet the ever-changing needs of the seniors of Garden Valley.

GVP TRIVIA... The answer to last week's question was: Diane Caughlin wrote the "From the Middlefork to your Fork" cookbook, many of the agents contributed to the book. We wrote the book because between 2007-2016 during the down turn, times were extremely rough and we had to borrow money just to stay afloat, so in order to fund the Christmas Kids account and make sure that the children from our community were taken care of, because we all so strongly believe in giving back to our community, we wrote and sold the cookbook. The cookbook is still for sale, for $10 each and all proceeds still benefit the Christmas kids account. Volume 2 is hopefully coming out this spring.

This week's trivia: "Who in the office is double jointed in their fingers, elbows, and shoulders?"

Here is the list of the Agents & Staff at GVP: Diane Caughlin, Owner/Founder Director of Marketing; Jim Jardine-Broker; Julie Leslie-Realtor; Hannah Mitchell-VP Marketing; Liz Pabst-Administrative Assistant; Toni Palmiotto-Associate Broker/GRI; Marissa Sevilla-Realtor; Tami Smith-Office Manager; Kathy Vaughan-Associate Broker/GRI If you have any questions on how to play our Trivia game, please contact Diane at dianec@gardenvalleyproperties.com! EAST BOISE COUNTY

Accident on Centerville Road

PLACERVILLE -- The evening after Christmas, an accident occurred when a 16-year-old driver was on the snowy roads of Centerville Road. He may have been going too fast for the conditions, started to skid and applied his breaks. He went up over the embankment of snow, with his two passengers, as the truck lost control.

Navy Commander Andrew Bourret and his wife, Jessica, were headed home from Las Vegas when they saw the occupants and offered to transport them to a home in Placerville. Fire Chief Butters responded with the Placerville Fire Department.

There had not been any injuries reported and the truck was successfully pulled out by Mountain Towing & Recovery of Centerville. With no damage sustained by the truck, they were able to drive it home. Whether the occupants were wearing seatbelts at the time of the accident is unknown.

Dan Gasiorowski, Placerville Fire responder said, "All of the occupants were very fortunate; another 20-yards and the truck would have rolled into the creek!"

A truck was lost over the side of an embankment on December 26, 2018. Luckily, everyone inside was fine and the truck undamaged.

Mountain Towing & Recovery was busy with the Christmas season snow fall.

Opinion: Letter to the Editor

Editor,

'Twas the night before Christmas and all over town People had been busy, but were settling down. Dinner was over and my wife and me Had just sat down to watch some TV We were relaxing without any care When 'Baby not breathing' the scanner would blare. "IC Fire responding as fast as we can" But the ambulance there was no one to man Life Flight was called and they took to the air But who would meet them how would they get there? Then 2300 joined in the fray I'll get the rig and be on the way But his plan did not work, it made him real sore When he got to the shed, he couldn't open the door He called out to dispatch just leave it to me I'll get the medics in my POV All is OK now but oh what a fright

Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night.

In case anyone thinks I am making light of the situation here on Christmas Eve, be assured I am not. We pay a portion of our property taxes for ambulance service, so where was it when a week old child needed it? As a 47 year veteran of Volunteer Fire Service, 21 of which were as an EMT, I am not happy with the situation here. I get it that sometimes responses are slow, but no one to man the ambulance and the door would not open due to lack of maintenance? Not acceptable. What are our County Commissioners doing about this situation? All three of you need to explain to the residents why we don't have a service we are paying for. Many thanks to Dispatcher Martinez, Bob Showalter, Deputy MacKenzie, and More's Creek Ambulance for their exemplary performance.

works in the Park. Smoke started to plague the area from a prescribed burn that continued to burn nearby areas in steep terrain. It was controlled and kept in boundaries, but produced smoke, particularly in the mornings, across the valley. The GV Senior Center Board made plans to increase activities for seniors.

August - Buy a Brick program, sponsored by the Garden Valley Syringa Club, is still looking at expanding with even more bricks at the Veterans Memorial in Weilmunster Park. Duke Days Rodeo event draws a crowd to watch the fund side of rodeo games. The Garden Valley Senior Center tried looking into a transit bus program to give rides to Boise for seniors. Frustrations over how money funneled through the District is spent peaked at a meeting of the GV Hospital Taxing District meeting. Clashing of the Board and members of the audience reached a crescendo.

September - Crouch Historic Museum Board looked into what it would take to create a Crouch Historic District, with lots of work ahead to meet requirements for an application. James Castle Festival was moved to the Memorial weekend and sponsored by the Garden Valley Center for the Arts. Memories of the famous artist were kept alive with school art projects depicting a Castle art style. The GVCA had art displays and silent auctions during the festival. The GV Hospital Taxing District lost most members of the Board and new members stepped up to rebuild the governing body of the District.

October - GV School has their Homecoming. The GVCA Gallery featured glass forms of art. Boise County Planning and Zoning started off with several new members on the Commission. CuMo Mining came to Garden Valley this year with a presentation, explaining where their project was at that stage, and how they are proceeding with the continued exploration to guarantee a viable and sustainable molybdenum mine in the future. Sheep could be seen being herded through the Garden Valley hills to keep the vegetation down and decrease fire fuels. Trunk or Treat in downtown Crouch is always a big hit with goblins in great costumes and trunks vying for the winner's circle as best trunk.

CuMo presentation

November - Political stands and outcomes became the major focus of mid-term elections. Holiday Bazaars in town and at the GV Senior Center kick off the holiday shopping. Starlight Mountain Theatre created a winter extravaganza complete with hot chocolate, skits, music and real Christmas trees for sale. Holiday happenings around the area, with a Christmas village viewing, lights on business buildings and homes, painted holiday windows and the spectacular lighting of the town Christmas tree were just some of the holiday treats to enjoy. Light snowfall added to the winter and holiday spirit. A Tussock moth presentation by the US Forest Service brought a room full of people at the community hall to learn about the trees being infested in area forests. The Edge Resort owners also had a public meeting to give a project update. They showed the attendees of the meeting the future plans to build a resort that will have wetlands restoration, a lodge, shops and a brew pub, RV camping and more. AED's removed from locations caused a bit of concern until the GV Hospital Taxing District Board could explain the logistics of removal and having them reinstated with a way to have checks on the components logged in monthly.

December - The GV Senior Center kicked off the Metro Meals on Wheels lunch program with big turnouts. Other businesses had seasonal Ugly Sweater Contests. Snow and sometimes icy roads are enjoyed by some. Others just want winter to go away. Snow amounts have stayed very low in the area, but the frigid temps keep it around. GV School had a Christmas music concert in Lowman and Garden Valley. Last minute shopping has kept businesses feeling the good economy for a change. The GV Hospital Taxing District announced a new contract being signed with the local clinic to create a plan with subsidy programs. Plans for the Annual Chamber of Commerce Lantern Lighting were underway for New Year's Eve at Weilmunster Park at 6pm. SNOLF (snow golf) begins at Terrace Lakes with just enough snow to make it a challenge.

Reporter's Year End Thoughts: Through this past year, businesses came and went, and so have people. Newcomers have been transitioning into rural living, which creates growing pains for the area. Boise County, with its three major towns, and other towns in between, struggles to remain rural. There are the battles with incoming drugs as the population grows. New enforcements are being made to keep the communities safer or help to guide mutual respect for neighbors as land is built on and the population becomes denser. Some see 2018 as divisive. Others see it as a year of changes through growth. The hope is that the communities will continue to be challenged for the greater good of all who inhabit Boise County and that everyone can find common ground.

Idaho Power Warns Against Solar Scams

BOISE COUNTY -- An increasing number of Idaho Power customers are reporting misleading statements and activities from individuals selling solar systems or stating that they are selling services related to Idaho Power. Examples include people claiming to be associated with Idaho Power while attempting to make a sale or using Idaho Power's name to gain access to the customer's home.

As our customers' trusted energy advisor, Idaho Power wants to ensure people have accurate information. Here is a list of things Idaho Power does and does not do regarding solar energy:

Idaho Power DOES:

- Support solar and other renewable energy choices.
- Work with licensed installers to allow customers to interconnect to Idaho Power's electrical grid.
- Conduct an on-site inspection for newly installed systems prior to interconnection.
- Employ energy advisors who can answer your questions about solar and other topics.
- Idaho Power DOES NOT:
 - Sell solar systems or other energy products door-to-door.
 - Endorse or partner with specific solar companies—we work with all licensed installers.
 - Visit your home without notifying you first.
 - Have offerings where customers are "off the grid." Interconnected solar customers have separate requirements, but they still use Idaho Power's grid.

Detailed information including FAQs, rules for interconnection, and solar payback calculations are available on Idaho Power's website. To speak to an energy advisor, call 1-800-632-6605. If you question whether an individual works for Idaho Power, ask them to produce their employee ID and call us to confirm.

Suspicious behavior or unwanted trespassing should be reported to local law enforcement. Inaccurate or aggressive sales tactics should be reported to the Better Business Bureau.

BOISE COUNTYWWII History in Horseshoe Bend
& JerusalemBy Don Fry ~ Historian

I recently published a new book which tells of the experiences of men and women from Horseshoe Bend and the Jerusalem Valley who were in our nation's wars. Horseshoe Bend and Jerusalem Veteran Stories is available through the Horseshoe Bend Historical Society. The stories printed here are about veterans from the area who are not in the book, only because they were not known to me when the book was published. Readers of The Idaho World are invited to send me other stories of our veterans so they will not be forgotten. ~ Donald E. Fry

KIA Battle of the Bulge/
Elsenborn Ridge

Article in the Idaho Daily Statesman of September 19, 1948: "DARLING - Services for Sgt. Jack E. Darling are to be held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at Summers Chapel. The American Legion post will pay military honors at the field of honor at Morris Hill. Sergeant Darling, son of Jack Darling of Horseshoe Bend and Mrs. Ethel Parker of Boise, was killed Dec. 18, 1944, during the battle of the Belgian Bulge. He enlisted in the 38th infantry battalion of First Army's second division when he was 16 years old. His survivors also include his step-father, Ira Parker."

Jack Darling was one of those who had enlisted in the Army before the war began. He enlisted for the Panama Canal Department on January 4, 1941 at Ft. Sam Houston. He was not quite 22 years old, despite the assertion that he was only 16 when he joined up. However, he may have enlisted sooner. An article in the May 24, 1942 Statesman said he had been in the Army five years. Another article in the Statesman of October 26, 1944, said that he had left Boise eight years earlier to join the Army, so his enlistment in 1941 might have been a re-enlistment. The article went on to say that he was one of the first American soldiers to land in France on D-Day and he fought in the battle of Brest where he captured a German flag and sent it to his mother. He received a citation and a bronze star for bravery in action.

The 38th Infantry, 2nd Division of the 2nd Infantry Division was in Northern Ireland and Wales from October 1943 until June, 1944, when they landed at Normandy on D-Day +1. After exploiting the Saint-Lo breakout, the 2nd Division then advanced across the Vire to take Tinchebray in August 1944. The division then attacked Brest, which fell after 39 days. The division took a week's rest before moving to defensive positions at St. Vith, Belgium on 29 September 1944. The division entered Germany on 3 October 1944, and was ordered, on 11 December 1944, to attack and seize the Roer River dams. The German Ardennes offensive (Bulge) in mid-December forced the division to withdraw to defensive positions near Elsenborn Ridge, where the German drive was halted. It was sometime during this campaign that Sgt. Jack Darling was killed.

After his death, his outfit continued on. In February 1945 the division attacked, recapturing lost ground, and seized Gemund, March 4th. Reaching the Rhine on March 9th, the division advanced south to take Breisig, March 10-11, and to guard the Remagen Bridge, March 12-20. They had pressed into Czechoslovakia by the time the war ended.

Jack's body was returned to the U.S. after the war, and he is buried at Morris Hill Cemetery in Boise. He had been awarded a Bronze Star and Purple Heart.

Jack J. Marshall
4/28/1917-3/28/1945
317th Infantry Regiment,
80th Division
European Theater
KIA Rhine Crossing Mainz

An article in the Idaho Daily Statesman of December 9, 1948: Emmett Soldier's Rites Set Today: Graveside rites for Pvt. Jack J. Marshall, killed in action in Germany on March 28, 1945, will be held today at 2 p.m. at Riverside at Emmett. The Rev. Donald L Hoffman will officiate, and the VFW will pay military honors. Interment will be under the direction of Flahiff chapel. Pvt. Marshall was born April 28, 1917 at Stafford, Mo., and came to Idaho in 1938. On October 21, 1939 he married Velma M. Lee at Horseshoe Bend. The couple lived there until 1941, when he moved to Council to work for the Boise Payette Lumber Company there. Pvt. Marshall entered the Army on April 26, 1944. Surviving are his wife; two sons, David and Lee, and a daughter, Wanda, all of Glenrock, Wyo.; six brothers, and a sister.

The 317th Infantry Regiment, part of the 80th Infantry Division, landed at Utah Beach. The division played a key role in the breakthrough at Avranches. The Division then attacked Argentan, taking it, 20 August, 1944, and creating the Falaise Pocket. After mopping up in the area, the 80th took part in the Third Army dash across France, cutting through Saint-Mihiel, Chalons, and Commercy in pursuit of the retreating Germans until they were stopped by the lack of gasoline and other supplies at the river Seille.

From 25 September to 7 November, the division prepared for the attack into the Saar Basin. The attack jumped off on 8 November. The 80th Division advanced through Delme Ridge, Faulquemont, and St. Avold to within 5 miles (8.0 km) of Saarbrücken, when it was relieved by the 6th Armored Division, on 7 December 1944.

After 10 days rest, the division had moved to take part in an attack on the Siegfried Line at Zweibrücken when the Germans launched their winter offensive (the Battle of the Bulge). The 80th was moved northward and fought at Luxembourg and Bastogne. On 28 December, the 80th broke through, bringing relief to the 101st at Bastogne before driving the enemy across the Sure River to Dahl and Goesdorf, 7 January 1945, and across the Clerf and Wiltz Rivers by 23 January. On 7 February 1945, the division crossed the Our and Sauer Rivers at Wallendorf (Eifel), broke through the Siegfried Line, and pursued the Germans to Kaiserslautern, 20

March, and crossed the Rhine, 27-28 March, near Mainz.

Jack Marshall was killed during the Rhine crossing or sometime during that campaign. It is sad to think that if he had survived just six more weeks he would probably have survived the war. His family decided to have his body returned to the United States three years after the war ended.

James Thomas Mitchell
10/10/1878-11/29/1948
Company L, 26th
Infantry Regiment
Philippine Insurrection

The Spanish-American War ended in April, 1899 with the Treaty of Paris. The treaty gave the United States control over the Philippines, Cuba and other territories. Managing these possessions stretched the US military. So, in 1901, Congress authorized five additional Regular Army regiments; the 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, and 30th Infantry. The 26th Infantry began its life in the Philippines and earned its first battle streamer during the Philippine-American War. The war was an armed conflict between the First Philippine Republic and the United States that lasted from February 4, 1899, to July 2, 1902. The First Philippine Republic objected to the terms of the Treaty of Paris under which the United States took possession of the Philippines from Spain. They viewed conflict with the United States as a continuation of their struggle for independence. The U.S. government regarded it as an insurrection. The war was fought with terrible brutality on the part of the Americans.

James Thomas Mitchell of Greenfield, Tennessee, enlisted January 17, 1901 at St. Louis, Missouri. He was joined into Company L, 26th Infantry and sent to the Philippines. When he arrived, the US Army was involved in guerilla warfare against men armed in many cases with knives, bows and arrows. Modern sources give the number of Philippine casualties as 200,000, mostly due to famine and disease. The war ended in April, 1902, with 4200 American deaths. James Mitchell was discharged at Sorsogon, Philippine Islands, on November 29, 1902. His service was rated as "Excellent."

Idaho Statesman November 30, 1948:

James T. Mitchell Called by Death

James T. Mitchell, 69, of 2219 Kootenai Street, Spanish war veteran, railroad builder, miner and farmer, died Monday at a Boise hospital following a long illness.

A resident for 34 years of Horseshoe Bend where he was engaged in mining and then in farming, Mr. Mitchell had made his home in Boise the past seven years.

Following his discharge from military service during the Spanish-American War he was employed for some years in railroad work including a part in the survey for the Union Pacific lines to Yellowstone national park and from Minidoka to Buhl, Idaho. He had been employed by the Southern Pacific, San Pedro and Los Angeles and Union Pacific railroads. Born Oct. 10, 1878 near Memphis, Tenn., he enlisted at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war and served in the Philippine Islands, returning to the United States early in 1903. In December 1905, he came to Horseshoe Bend and was married Jan. 25, 1906 to Bessie Hall, who died June 29, 1909, following the birth of their surviving daughter, Ruth Eleanor Mitchell. He was married again Oct. 20, 1914, in Boise to Mary Moser, who survives. Services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Schreiber and McCann chapel, with Chaplain John Frazee officiating. Veterans of Foreign Wars will conduct services at Silent Camp at Morris Hill.

Payette Forward Thrift Store says "Thank You!"

GARDEN VALLEY -- Payette Forward Thrift Shop has had an incredible six months of doing business, accepting endless and ever fascinating donations, keeping nice low prices for all our merchandise, and then being able to distribute funds, something over $15,000 to date, to various organizations in the Garden Valley community. We've increased our volunteer numbers to well over 20 hard workers who laugh a lot, share each other's sorrows, and give out lots of hugs to each other as well as customers who might walk through the doors. We capped the year with a really fun Christmas party with almost all of our volunteers being able to attend.

Beginning in January, the weekend of Friday and Saturday, January 4th and 5th, we are changing our open hours slightly and will open for the next few months at 11:00 a.m.

(instead of the 10:00 a.m. time we've been opening). We will also officially be open on Wednesday afternoons from 12 noon - 3:00 p.m. Other days are by chance, when someone is often there working, or please feel free to call Ruth Richter whose number is posted on the door.

We're also starting a half price rack and shelves of merchandise, wanting to keep the flow of ever-changing new, secondhand goods fresh and interesting to everyone ... so look for that area at the back of the shop. It will be re-supplied every week.

Mostly we just want to thank each and every person in Garden Valley and an amazing number of visitors, tourists, and weekenders who have become our regular patrons as well. Some very interesting small world coincidences have occurred in conversations we've struck up with these people. Every week we comment among ourselves about how hugely generous this community has been with donations, shopping with us, and bringing in their friends and relatives.

Have any questions? Call Payette Forward, 462-2112, leave a message if no one answers, and we'll get back to you with an answer. Happy New Year to everyone and we'll see you in the shop!

BOISE COUNTY COURT UPDATE

December 21, 2018

Kamille Peterson had a charge of child sexual abuse of a minor under 16 years of age, but this case was remanded after a resolution to go back to Magistrate Court, Judge Cockrille.

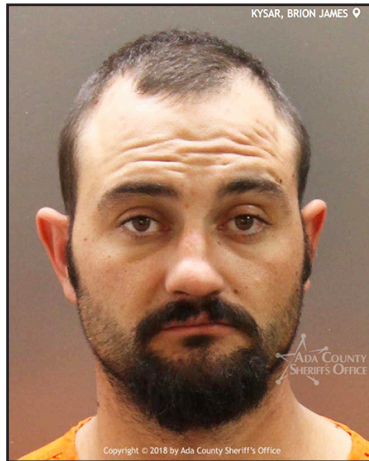

Tammy Ellsworth was present after completing her in-custody Rider Program, for substance abuse and thinking programing, for 180 days. Having plead guilty on May 18th to a probation violation. She had eight former charges from the City of Idaho City of Misuse of Public Funds by a Public Employee, but had plead guilty in 2015 for one of those charges, $200 for personal use from the petty cash. On February 13th she was cited for a probation violation when five-plus pounds of marijuana and over a hundred bottles of alcohol were found at the residence she was staying. It was said that she was exemplary on her Rider, seeking out additional self-help classes and even reportedly helped other inmates to succeed. District Judge, Samuel Hoagland sentenced her to supervised probation until 2021 and released her from incarceration. She will be subject to routine testing and will be required to complete other after-programs.

Joshua Kirkham of Bingham County was sentenced for Driving Under the Influence, blood alcohol level of .212. He explained that it was "embarrassing" and said he was headed to Mountain Home from Firth, which he somehow missed and ended up on Hwy. 55. He had two other outstanding DUI charges that were going to be addressed in other courts. He entered a guilty plea to this charge.

Adam Koenke was present in court for Battery – Domestic Violence Inflicted Traumatic Injury, Possession of Controlled Substance, and Drug Paraphernalia. A no contact order was put in place and the case set over to the next court date, January 25th, for an entry of plea.

Brion Kysar was present in-custody of the Ada County Jail for a total of seven charges, including drug-trafficking of methamphetamines, drug paraphernalia, driving without privileges and operating a vehicle without registration or assigned license plate. He faces up to life in prison, plus seven and a half years, and fines up to $113,200. Kysar entered a "not guilty" plea for all seven of the charges. The jury trial is set for May 29th.

Michael McCombs was charged with "Lewd Conduct with Child Under 16" and faces up to life in prison and a $50,000 fine. McCombs entered a "not guilty" plea and is scheduled for a two-day jury trial is scheduled to start on May 22nd.

Daniel Weatherwax, 56, was present in District Court for charges of possession of a controlled substance. The judge read the names of approximately thirty individuals who wrote letters of support for Weatherwax. Spencer Lay, Boise County Deputy Attorney, said they disagreed with the option of probation. The defendant had eight firearms that were found in the home, including an AK-47 type rifle and loaded handguns. There was cash in the amount of $5,500, cocaine, and 5.2 lbs. of marijuana which he classified as "medicine" that he gave away. In the home was also found to be baggies and scales. "This was somebody that was dealing marijuana," Lay pointed out that this is what the evidence showed. The home was within a half mile of the Basin School District. "Mr. Weatherwax decided to live in Idaho. He didn't decide to live in one of the other states where you can legally use the marijuana. He decided to have the belief that marijuana shouldn't really be against the law and I like to use marijuana for medicinal purposes," Lay said. "But when you start acting upon those beliefs in the State of Idaho, and start distributing marijuana, then he broke the law." Mr. Lay stressed that there had to be a punishment in this case that would provide a deterrent to society. The defendant's attorney, Mr. Young said that Mr. Weatherwax had tested negative, since undergoing drug testing, beginning in February of 2018. The attorney referenced the "glowing amount of letters of support." Mr. Weatherwax said, "I want to apologize to the citizens of Idaho City and to my family. I just want to thank them too for supporting me." Judge Hoagland did find him guilty of possession of marijuana with the intent to deliver, and possession of cocaine. He continued that sentencing should reflect a way to protect society, and dissuade the defendant or others from repeating the crime. The judge's goal was to fashion a just and fair sentence that fits the crimes, taking into account several factors, such as his character within the community. It was the judgment of this court to suspend the sentence of five years fixed, per probation. Weatherwax will serve 180 days in the Ada County Jail, 90 days suspended and credited 3-days. Court costs were imposed, total of $3,000. He must also enroll and successfully complete a substance abuse class.

Gaitlin Gehrls, 31, was present and out of custody on December 21st. On July 18th the defendant was charged with soliciting participation, sexual battery, of a child 16 or 17 years old, in violation of Idaho Code. The judge said the facts arose on July 16th, 2018. Judge Hoagland noted, "The texts essentially started as a caring friend, but worked its way into sexual grooming and sexual overtones." The young lady showed the texts to her mother, and the sheriff's office was called. "The deputies basically took over the messaging after that, which ultimately lead after that to the defendant overtly, and graphically, attempting to arrange a meeting for sex and alcohol." Gehrls entered a guilty plea on September 21, 2018.

There were several letters of support written in behalf of the defendant, and a group of women supporting the defendant's wife in court. The judge reviewed a psychosexual evaluation and images of the text messages from Facebook. "I read all those with significant care and attention." The mother of the victim read an impact statement to the courtroom, with many from the community present. She said that on July 13th, 2018, the Idaho City Ambulance was at her house because her daughter had cut herself to the point that she would need stitches. "My friend, Gator [Gaitlin], was there as the ambulance driver. Before they left to take her to the hospital, I gave my friend Gator a hug and he said, 'Don't worry; I'll take care of her.' Those words made my heart feel good. They were encouraging, they were uplifting; they made me feel like I can do this. That I had friends that understood and were supportive." The mother continued through choked tears, "But two days later, the words he said to that same daughter, broke my heart into a million pieces and those words made me feel alone." She contacted the Boise County Sheriff's Office and Idaho City Police, who felt further investigation was in order. "Come to find out, there was more there than just words. This 30-year-old, married man, left his loving wife, his two kids, a good job and got into a truck and drove to the Idaho City airport to meet up with a 16-year-old girl, he thought he was texting, to have sex with her. If the old saying, 'actions speak louder than words,' is true, then the fact that he showed up, was standing there with a beer and a blanket, waiting, should speak volumes." She stated that her daughter has a 3.5 GPA and is halfway through her certification as a Nurse's Assistant with Job Corps. "She is not an at-risk brat. We are not the evil ones. We are also not the only ones hurt by this. This problem can no longer be hidden, deleted or lied about. And I hope the healing can start now."

Mr. Lay, Boise County's Chief Deputy Prosecutor, said the State recommended 2-years fixed and 8-years indeterminate, a 10-year sentence. He said that in the presentence evaluation, the defendant "minimized the seriousness of the charge and the ramifications. He shows no empathy to the victim." Lay said that indicated that Mr. Gehrls was not a good candidate for probation, "because this was a serious crime. That there was victims of this crime and that the defendant does have a need for treatment. Without that acceptance, treatment can't start." He said Mr. Gehrls showed up, knew the girl's age, knew all of her history, "not only was he a family friend, but he was also a medical provider." Mr. Lay refused to read some of the text in court, but said that they were explicit and provided a few examples. He then said Mr. Gehrls later admitted to officers that those were the things he had texted to her. The state did not ask for the full 25 years of incarceration, but wanted to send a message to society, "to ensure this doesn't happen again." Mr. Lay said three times in the text messages, officers broke off contact. Mr. Gehrls reestablished contact, which showed he was targeting her.

Gehrls' attorney argued, "He was always thought of as a very productive member of this community. He was so accepted into the community, to the point where, until this, he was mainly considered as someone you could always count on to come help. A good person. A good man, someone you could trust. In one day, he threw all that away and it's taken him some time to accept that." He said that Gehrls showed in tests to be placed in the lower end of moderate, risk to reoffend.

Gehrls' read: "I want to apologize, publicly now, for my actions. It has been difficult to publicly admit that I have committed such a horrible act. I did do it and I apologize publicly now for first saying I didn't. I have committed a crime that has caused harm to a young girl. That never should have happened." He apologized for the stress on the family and for "ruining our friendship. I take full responsibility for my actions and understand I have criminally caused hurt to my family and everyone involved." Gehrls stated, "I never did anything like this before and I will never do anything like this again."

Judge Hoagland said as to the charge of solicitation of a minor child, 16 to 17 years old, the court would find him guilty.

THE IDAHO WORLD 151 Years Ago on Jan. 4, 1868

Pioneer City Correspondence.

PIONEER CITY, Dec. 28, 1867

EDITOR WORLD: - Permit me, through your columns, to give your Fenian readers an idea of the manner in which their brethren of this place enjoyed Christmas.

The festive season was ushered in by one of the most sociable of "social parties" ever enjoyed by the people of Pioneer - held at Duncan's Hall on Christmas Eve. The members of the Emmet Circle, F.B., having resolve on holding a "re-union" on the same evening, postponed it in consequence to the following evening. Accordingly, after Vespers, at the appointed hour, at 8 o'clock, they assembled in their Hall and passed one of the most mirthful, joyous and happy evenings it was ever the lot of the participants to enjoy. Wit, wine and sentiment, were freely indulged. The usual toasts, and some unusual ones, were drank and appropriately responded to. Two of the latter I will mention, as they are somewhat new and intensely Fenian: "Liberty - Her friends our friends; her enemies our enemies." The last valedictory of the dying patriots of Manchester - "God bless old Ireland." A new feature in Fenian demonstrations in this country was on this occasion visible, in the presence of ladies, the wives and daughters of members, who lent their charm and influence to the festivity.

THE WEATHER. - The week has been decidedly wintery. On Saturday and Sunday morning, at 7 o'clock, the mercury fell to zero; on Monday the temperature was much less severe, but snow fell during the day, and rain at night, with high winds. It snowed heavily all Tuesday, was clear and pleasant on Wednesday, but high winds came late at night; and with fair day on Thursday higher winds and more snow were the features of that night. Yesterday continued free of snow-fall, but with portents of still more.

FOR GRANT. - The Radicals in the California Legislature have declared for Grant for the Presidency. Parson Brownlow has done likewise.

CITY AND COUNTRY. THE HOLIDAY TIMES. - New Year's Eve and New Year's Day were each characteristically appropriately observed and honored by our citizens generally. The Odd Fellows' Ball at Good Templars' Hall was a grand affair, and passed off charmingly, with every guest delighted and gladdened at the splendid time enjoyed. Jovial and convivial crowds thronged the Miners' Brewery, Cody's Tierney's, Houston & Peyton's, Taylor & Owens', and Petersen's, and "sang the old Year out and the new Year in," with jocund and boisterous glee. New Year's Day dawned clear, and with token of a most favorable temperature. The token was verified to the closing of the hours of light. And it was a right "Happy New Year" time, almost to everybody here. Several of our citizens had abundantly provided for the holiday at their houses, for the reception of friends and acquaintances; fair ladies graced the occasion of holiday welcome and goodly cheer, social and substantial; and the "callers" were assured a very pleasant, very gladsome, merry, festive greeting at each and all. "Ladies' Day," be it said to the credit of some of the gallant gentlemen of the city, was neither forgotten nor unprovided for by them, and they were charmingly rewarded for their provident gallantry by the calls and compliments of a goodly number of the fair ones. And thus terminated the Holiday week - a week of general joy and gladness, merriment and festivity, without a single occurrence of an unpleasant nature, so far as we have learned, to tear or cloud it. May we all live to enjoy, even to a greater degree, succeeding Holiday weeks, down to a green and happy old age to every soul. And now for a fresh start, and a good, improved, better, healthful, prosperous journey in life, for all, through the present year and beyond.

A BEAUTIFUL GIFT. - We were shown on Thursday a gold mounted meerschaum pipe, presented to Mr. L. M. Cohn by Mr. S.G. Rosenbaum, on New Years Day. The pipe itself is one of the finest, but the artistic, elaborated, masterly, exquisitely beautiful finish and style of the gold mounting, surpasses anything of the kind we have ever beheld. The work is massy gold, inlaid with enamel, and a pretty gold chain connects the heavy, rich, amber mouth-pieced stem with the bowl. The workmanship was executed by Heckman & Dickson, jewelers of this city.

He considered all the details: recommendations, reports, impact on the victim, defendant's statement, etc. "Most importantly, I reviewed the actual messages, sent and received in this case. I was disturbed as I read these materials, because it was clear there that the defendant minimized the truth, tried to blame the victim for what is ultimately his own evil and perverted attempt to engage her in child sexual abuse. In context, at least at that time, he was a menace to this community, and a danger to all of your daughters or children. The defendant had taken several large steps toward a big cliff. He was stopped by the victim and law enforcement." The judge continued saying in reviewing those texts and messages, "I'm aware that some feel like the defendant was entrapped. Let me tell you, he was not entrapped. The defendant made his own solicitation, as mentioned by the State. They were overt, they were graphic and he was not encouraged to make those statements. He did those on his own."

No prior convictions and a strong community support system, were two important factors the judge took into consideration. Regarding the letters of support he had concerns that,

"Most people who wrote those letters were not aware of the true facts and circumstances."

The defendant was a local ambulance driver for 3-years, but lost his job when he was arrested. "The defendant sitting before me, like I said, was just about to step off of a big cliff, and at that time, there's no doubt in my mind that severe damage would have occurred, and who knows how much further this ever would have gone. As it stands now, he was caught quickly, he was caught early, and actually, I think that's a good thing.

A conviction of this crime of sexual battery of a minor was accepted by the court, consisting of 10 years imprisonment, two years fixed, followed by eight years indeterminate. The judge imposed court fees and a fine of $2,000. He also imposed a civil penalty of $2,500 on behalf of the victim. Gehrls was ordered to provide DNA, a thumb print and would be required to register as a sex offender.

Gehrls will be enrolled in the Rider Program for sexual offender treatment, which will take about nine months. This involves counseling and therapy. Judge Hoagland stated that he wanted "everyone to know and understand" what the defendant showed in evaluations: "No remorse for the victim. Also, it was clear that defendant had poor insight into his issues and poor impulse control." The judge stated that if Gehrls complies to the programming and treatment, he will have a chance to be eligible for parole, prior to the two years requested by the State.

"Almost everyone gets out of prison and returns to society. So, the ultimate goal, in terms of protecting society, is to hope that we can properly treat people, so that they are no longer a serious danger to the community. That's my intention in this sentence. I believe under the circumstances, that this sentence is fair, just and reasonable, given all the unique facts of this case, and the goals and objective of criminal sentencing."

Per consideration of the Christmas holiday, the judge decided that Gehrls may spend it with his family, but then surrender himself by noon on December 31, 2018. The judge suggested to the community, that may want to continue and lend support to Mr. Gehrls' family over the next six to nine months.

A no contact order was signed by Judge Hoagland for a period of 10-years, "without exception," for the victim and her mother.
