Boise County Sheriff, All Treats and No Tricks in Horseshoe Bend

Students from Horseshoe Bend Elementary School dance to the Macarena while Boise County Sheriff Deputy Josh Ward hands out candy. The students were visited by Ward, and Boise County School Resource Officers Dave Gomez, and Cliff Porupsky, along with the Horseshoe Bend Fire & Emergency Medical Services Departments on Wednesday, October 28 as part of an effort to introduce the students to the emergency personnel that service the Boise County area. Photos by Tracy Koslosky

Horseshoe Bend Elementary students dance along with school staff, members of the Boise County Sheriff Department, and the Horseshoe Bend EMS & Fire Departments. School Resource Officer Dave Gomez led the students through the Macarena, a free style Footloose jam, and the Cupid Shuffle before closing with the Cha-Cha Slide while the department members handed out a pre-Halloween candy treat to those in attendance.

First Annual Trunk or Treat

The Horseshoe Bend Valley Chamber of Commerce held their first annual Halloween Trunk or Treat on the property of Barreto Manufacturing in Horseshoe Bend on Saturday, October 31. The ghosts and ghouls came out in large numbers for the event which began at 5:00 p.m. Babies, toddlers, children, teens, and adults came decked out in their most creative costumes. Prizes donated by The Locking Horns Riverside Restaurant, Emily Dickerson Photography, the Horseshoe Bend Post Office, and the chamber were given out in four categories to the best dressed. Those handing out treats from their trunks went all out, too. The Nightmare Before Christmas trunk that Jennifer Leonard and her family created took home the coveted "Best in Show" award, a wooden plaque of Idaho handcrafted by Two Oh Eight Designs and donated by the Horseshoe Bend Valley Chamber of Commerce. Second place (and a cherry pie courtesy of Volcanic Farms) went to Jodi and Nick Gibler for their daring Disco Trunk, and third place (and a marionberry pie from Volcanic Farms) went to Youth Dynamic Adventures for their interactive trunk or treat display. Those in attendance feasted on street tacos from Sonora Mexican Restaurant and adults were able to indulge in the "pub" set up by the Corner Cafe. Bar 7 LLC Interstate Trucking helped collect non-perishables for the Horseshoe Bend Food Pantry. The Horseshoe Bend Volunteer Fire and EMS Departments were also on hand to give out candy. Photo by Tracy Koslosky

Garden Valley Senior & Social Center News

We had a blast at the Garden Valley/Crouch Trunk or Treat event! It was complete with an eerie full moon. I didn't realize how many cute little ghosts, goblins and other imaginable creatures lived here! We actually WON the prize for the Funniest Costumes. This was our first Trunk or Treat for the Senior Center and we learned a lot for next year. November has ARRIVED and we are busy getting ready for our NEXT fun event at the Garden Valley Senior Center. Please come shop at our annual Holiday Crafts Bazaar on Saturday, November 7, 2020 from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. The unique and useful items will make great gifts or purchases for yourself. The crafts vendors will be set up so that we can practice safe social distancing and we recommend that everyone wear a mask. Hand sanitizers will also be available. To be safe, we had to limit the vendors. So, this event is smaller than last year; but we will have 15 amazingly talented craft artisans with several tables of wares. Come join the FUN! Please don't forget the Veterans Day celebration on Wednesday, November 11th. The honor ceremony starts at 10:45 a.m. in Garden Valley's Weilmunster Park and the Veterans get-together follows the ceremony at 11 a.m. in the Crouch Community Hall. The Garden Valley Senior Center will be providing the refreshments. This is a great opportunity to honor our local Veterans and hear their stories. If you are a Veteran, we are asking for the honor of your attendance and participation. We really want to meet you and hear about your military experiences. For more information visit/join the Garden Valley VETERANS Facebook Group: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/gvveterans> Don't forget the FREE Martial Arts for Seniors class on Thursday, November 12th at 1 p.m. If you are interested, we still need to hear from you. BOISE COUNTY*Avoid Possible Chimney Fires for 2020Written by Richard K. Murray, Faculty Member of the The National Fire Academy in Boise*

It's that time of year again to crank up the wood stove or fireplace and warm our homes and hearts. Unfortunately, it's also that time of year when folks experience chimney fires. Let's review the causes of chimney fires. When you have a fire in your fireplace or stove, unburned fuel, in the form of creosote, condenses on the chimney wall as it goes up the chimney. When a flame, spark, or hot ember reaches the deposits, it ignites, resulting in a chimney fire. The more efficiently your fire burns, like a gas insert or well-functioning pellet stove, the more of the fuel burns, so fewer deposits form in your chimney. Specific conditions that encourage build-up include: restricting the air supply, using unseasoned wood, and cooler than normal chimney temperatures.

- Restricting the air supply can do two things to encourage creosote build-up. First, the restricted air supply can cause less efficient burning of the wood, creating more smoke/unburned fuel. Second, the restriction can slow the smoke in going up the chimney. The longer the smoke is in the chimney, the more deposit it can leave. One additional way to restrict air supply can be overloading the firebox with wood to get a longer burn. Many people fill the firebox and "stoke down" the fire to keep it burning all night. This creates inefficiency in burning the fuel, and thus more smoke.

- Unseasoned wood holds a lot more water than seasoned wood. This water requires energy to evaporate before the fuel burns. This means less efficiency in burning the wood, more unburned fuel going up the chimney, and the evaporating water actually cools the smoke, thus encouraging depositing.

- Cooler than normal chimney temperatures can be caused by nature, a cold snap, and by burning your fire at lower temperatures by using unseasoned wood and/or restricting the air supply. Cooler smoke means a cooler chimney and the opportunity for more deposits.

Chimney fires can burn explosively, which is when the symptoms of a chimney fire become apparent, signalled flame or dense smoke shooting from the top of your chimney, and the infamous low rumbling sound like a freight train or low flying plane. A chimney fire can also burn slowly and not produce noticeable symptoms, so the fires can go unnoticed but still can reach very high temperatures that cause damage to the chimney and combustible materials in your home, even to the point of igniting your home's structure.

What should I do if I notice a chimney fire? The first and most important thing to do is call 911! We are served by volunteer firefighters. It takes a while for them to drive to the fire station and get rolling in a fire truck to your residence. We are all familiar with winter road conditions, so this may take quite some time for the firefighters to get to your home.

The sooner you get them rolling, the better for you.

This year I am happy to report there are several fire suppressant products that are available to purchase. While I am not endorsing any product, I found all of these on-line. Orion Safety Products' Chimfex is a fire suppressant that you ignite like a flare and put in your stove or fire place. Meeco's Red Devil Fire Ex chimney fire suppressant and Kidde's FireEx are pouches of fire suppressant and Kidde's Auto Fire Off (AFO) is a fire extinguisher ball. With these three products there is no pre-ignition, you simply throw the package into the fire, which then ignites and suppresses the fire. The good thing about all of these products is that they suppress chimney fires from the ground, there is no climbing ladders or working on steep, snow-covered, icy roofs.

There also some products on the market that are designed to reduce creosote build-up during the winter as we use our stoves or fireplaces. All of these products are also available online. The Creosote Sweeping Log for Fireplaces, when used according to the manufacturer's instructions, reduces the weight, thickness, and flammability of creosote. Pine Mountain's First Alert Creosote Buster Chimney Cleaning Safety Fire Log contains a specially formulated powder that when heated converts to a super penetrating gas to attack and break down creosote compounds in your chimney to remove dangerous creosote. Meeco's Red Devil Creosote Destroyer also controls creosote buildup in fireplaces and wood-burning appliances. With regular use according to the manufacturer's recommendations, it acts as a catalyst and destroys the binder that holds the creosote particles together.

Other steps you can take to help prevent chimney fires include:

- Most importantly, clean and inspect your chimney at least once a year. Removing the deposited creosote reduces the fuel for a chimney fire. Inspecting the chimney for damage like cracks, holes, and sections that have come apart will help prevent fire spreading out of your chimney and into the structure of your home.

- Use the correct wood, one that burns hot and doesn't have a lot of water in the wood, seasoned vs. unseasoned.

- Do not over-restrict the air supply by dampening down the fire.

- Do not overload your fire box with fuel.

- Remove ash from your fireplace or stove on a regular basis.

- Be sure your fireplace or stove and chimney were installed correctly. Sometimes owners see installation as a DIY project. When buying a home, always have the fireplace or stove installation inspected by a pro.

- The regular use of chemicals to break-down creosote that builds up in your chimney. These can come in the form of a "log" or loose material that you spread on your fire's embers.

Finally, one last suggestion. If you have a fireplace or wood stove, you should have a smoke detector and carbon monoxide detector. They are relatively inexpensive and they can save your life. Look for detectors with 10-year batteries so you don't have to worry about changing the batteries every time you go from daylight savings to standard time.

Night at the Garden Valley Library

Dumbo and her Mummy brother went through the Halloween Drive Thru at the Garden Valley District Library.

Practicing social distancing, kids received a goodie bag (per their grade level) that included a book and a chocolate bar. Photos by Marjolein Lolkema

We made a couple hundred ghost lights, which we put on the road from the center of town to the library.

Activities in the Garden Valley District Library

By Marjolein Lolkema

Garden Valley, ID – Due to COVID-19, most activities in the Garden Valley District Library were on hold. However, there is some good news! Since Thursday, October 22, the library started their weekly StoryTime again. A bit different than normal, the library is now holding every Thursday at 10:30 am as a Drive-In Story-Time in their parking lot.

The idea is simple. People can come in their car or any other transportation they like. For example: with your child in a stroller, or on the backseat of your bike, or even on a horse.

There will be a section selected at the parking lot where you can park. When the weather is nice, you can get out of your car, but it is not necessary. When StoryTime starts we will do some songs together and read some books. StoryTime will end, of course, with a craft. We will hand out grab-to-go crafts which people can make at home. For more information about the library's activities, see <http://gardenvalley.lili.org/>, Instagram or Facebook.

"Ghost lights" led the way to the library. The lights were white paper cups, with eyes and mouths drawn on so they looked like a ghost and an LED tealight did the rest!

Horseshoe Bend Volleyball Goes to State!

By Tracy Koslosky

HORSESHOE BEND --

The Horseshoe Bend Lady Mustang Volleyball Team had their chance at a 1A Division II Idaho State Championship in Burley on Friday, October 30th and 31st. The team was scheduled to play the Sun Valley Community High School Cutthroats in match number 3 in round one of the playoffs on Friday, but the Lady Mustangs received the bye after the Cutthroats announced that they could not compete due to a coronavirus outbreak. Sun Valley Community School made the decision after three positive COVID-19 tests occurred at the school.

The Sun Valley forfeiture set the Lady Mustangs up for a repeat meeting with their fellow 1A Division II Long Pin conference rivals the Tri-Valley Titans. The Mustangs upset the Titans the previous week, winning the District Championship against the undefeated Tri-Valley team. The Mustangs performed well during the match, taking the first game 25-22 before losing the subsequent three games 20-25, 14-25, 15-25 giving the Titans the win and setting Tri-Valley up to play for, and eventually win, the state championship.

The Mustangs found themselves in a match for 3rd place against Watersprings High School, where they lost the first game of the match 22-25 before rebounding 25-12, 25-23, 25-20 for the match win and a third place trophy. Senior Natalie Newell was named to the Senior All Star team, and along with freshman Annelie Wilson was named to the 1A Division II first team. Junior Kenzie Renfro and freshmen Abby Howerton were named to the 1A Division II second team and freshman Torey Tschida received an honorable mention.

The Horseshoe Bend Varsity Volleyball team posed for a team picture before their journey to Burley for the 1A Division II State Volleyball Championship Tournament. ## Horseshoe Bend Varsity Mustang Football Heads to 1A Division II State Semi-Finals

By Tracy Koslosky

HORSESHOE BEND --

In round 1 of the 1A Division 2 Idaho State Championship tournament the Horseshoe Bend Varsity Mustangs ended the Castleford Wolves' chances of a state championship. The 34-28 Mustang victory sends the team to the quarterfinals in Mullan, Idaho where they will face off against the Mullan/St. Regis Tigers, a team born of necessity when neither school (Mullan High School in Idaho and St. Regis High School in Montana) could field an 8-man team. The Tigers co-op team had a first round bye after finishing their regular season 6-1. Friday night's October 30th game at Horseshoe Bend gave senior Hunter Howerton 152 rushing yards and two touchdowns. Junior Mustang quarterback Colten Meyer scored twice, rushed for 81 yards with a touchdown, and passed for a total of 118 yards. Meyer did double duty on defense with an interception, as well as 6 tackles. Junior Keegan Smith came away with 21 tackles and 2 sacks while senior John Gorbet had 13 tackles and 1 sack.

The Mustangs play Mullan on Saturday, November 7th at 1:00 p.m. at Mullan High School.

The Horseshoe Bend Lady Mustang Volleyball team were celebrated at a school send off rally on Thursday, October 29.

Horseshoe Bend's Mustang offense lines up against the Castleford Wolves during round 1 of the 1A Division II Idaho State Football Tournament. The 34-28 Mustang win sends Horseshoe Bend to Mullan on November 7th for the semi-final round of play.
